

WOMEN'S HEALTH & CLOTTING QUARTERLY

e-Bulletin Issue 2, September 27, 2023

BACK TO CAMPUS

Contraception is a crucial decision many women make as college students. A recent study shows that low reproductive health literacy among college-aged women has relevant impacts. Read more here.

PATIENT CENTRIC

Are you and your healthcare provider on the same page? When it comes to birth control, the answer might surprise you. Read more about a new survey showing a disconnect between patients and providers.

MY STORY, MY VOICE[™]

Jen was diagnosed with bilateral ovarian cysts and promptly started her physician-prescribed estrogen-based therapy. A month later, she experienced life-threatening blood clots. Read her story here.

INK-SIGHTS

Barbie has been a “role model” for decades, and in the 2023 blockbuster “Barbie” movie she seems to signal a message of empowerment in reproductive health. Read more here.

NET-SOURCED NEWS

Taking Certain Painkillers with Birth Control May Increase Risk of Blood Clots

Women in England Urged to Help Shape Reproductive Health Policy

How effective is birth control?

Women given new insight into blood clot risk

RESOURCES

SUBSCRIBE

DONATE

LET'S CONNECT

